

I don't think the No Call List should have any changes made by the FCC. You still get annoying calls from some of the exempt people so we don't need any more.